SearchForecast Methodology

SearchForecast calculates traffic rankings by analyzing which websites millions of Internet users throughout the world visit. SearchForecast continuously accesses and calculates our data analysis and reporting from various crawlers, that when combined, collect information from billions of website pages from over 10 million websites. SearchForecast's proprietary methodologies compute these statistics to produce traffic rankings and intelligence that organizations can use to improve search engine rankings.

SearchForecast has hundreds of industry and sub-directories into which our customers can compare a group of websites against each other to determine website metrics such as Page Views and Traffic Rankings. SearchForecast reports on gross numbers, percentages, relative rankings and market shares. SearchForecast also classifies websites by Country providing our members with geographical information.

SearchForecast consolidates information containing Backward and Competitor Links, search engine directories that websites are listed in, how each website is structured and the high audience keyword analysis. This is important information for search engine optimization and vital intelligence in order to improve rankings in search engine results pages.

How to Read the Ranking Table?

Website Page Views per million indicates what fraction of all the page views users go to a specific website. For example, if CNN.com has 240,000 page views per million, this means that 24% of all Website Page Views go to CNN.com. Therefore, the total number of fractional page views over all websites add up to 100%. The average Page Views can be used to analyze whether a website is below or above the industry average of Page Views.

How to read the Sub Directory Trend Analysis?

The Sub-Directory Trend Analysis refers to the number of Sub-Directories within each top level industry category of Google (DMOZ), Google and Yahoo, as well as the total number of website listings, market share and the density of sub-directories.

The Directories Listings in the table details the name of the Directory, the number of Sub Directories within that directory, the total number of websites that are listed in that Directory and the market share of those directories. The higher the number of Directories a website is listed in will, in theory, result that website being better indexed by search engines.

SearchForecast calculates the average number of listings in each directory, which we describe as the Density. The higher the density, the more listings in that directory. Search Engine Optimization should review the density per Sub-Directory to aid in the development of search engine friendly content.
